René is a business and management consultant with extensive experience in performance management, process or system improvement and total quality management.

René has supported organisations from different sectors including Manufacturing, Finance, Public Administration, Health, and Education.

He is a EFQM Assessor and has worked with the EFQM Excellence Model since 2000.

In addition to his work with the EFQM Excellence Model, René supports organisations seeking to improve their management systems through certifications to ISO standards. He worked as a Lead Auditor (SGS, SQS) for the core management standards ISO 9001. He has successfully assisted organisations to achieve and retain ISO certification.

René leads many courses in business excellence, process management, strategic management and change management.

René is a strong believer in continuous improvement and the EFQM Excellence Model's ability to support organisations in their quest for improvement.

René has actively developed a course and a "Workbook Business Excellence" for young students. He invented and developed a "Quick-Assessment Digitalisation" on the basis of EFQM Excellence Model. René invented a easy continuous improvement method for teams (KVP-e4).

René is a highly motivated person for continuous learning and sharing and passionate for working in multi-cultural environments with diversity of sectors and believes that the EFQM Excellence approach is one of the key aspects that will contribute to a better future for human being.
